National Vocation Awareness Week

Father Pat Earl Celebrates 60 years of Jesuit Life

As we observe National Vocation Awareness Week, Father Pat Earl, SJ is celebrating his 60th Jubilee as a Jesuit. Father Earl was asked to give the homily at a recent celebration for members of the Society of Jesus celebrating Jubilees. We reprint his homily here:

Today we gather in this chapel to mark anniversaries and to give thanks to God. For Dennis and myself it's a 60th anniversary; for Bill Kelley and Rob McChesney, a 50th anniversary of entering the Society of Jesus. And gratefully we celebrate Bill George's 50th and Dave Collins' 25th anniversary of ordination to priestly service in the Church.

Anniversaries are a returning, and today we return to our lives of sixty, fifty and twenty-five years ago. And we return as changed – of course, changed by those many intervening years, but also, we have been changed and formed by what happened back then: by what each of us did back then; and--profoundly--by what God did back then, in and through each of us.

We are changed and shaped by our own decisions – by what we want. And changed and shaped by God – by what God wants. Our wanting – God's wanting. We might think to neatly separate these out from each other: my wanting and God's wanting; my loving and God's loving. But they are found together. There is no neat separation. God's sheer gratuity makes it so. God and us/God and me belong together, and we are together. And we are together. That's our basic truth. It's the foundational truth Ignatius learned at Manresa. Now, perhaps that comes across as messy, murky business. But we simply cannot act as if who we deeply are and how we really act are due only to ourselves. God is and acts in us and through us. Somehow, God's grace and goodness act in us and through us

On this occasion, we especially remember the commitment each of us made to live poorly, chastely and obediently. Our religious vows have shaped our lives. It is in our lived poverty, chastity and obedience that we can somehow sense God's presence refining us. Likewise, we recall our commitment to priestly service. It's a service, Pope Francis reminds us, requiring a closeness to God who will form us to be there for people.

There's something else about our lives that I think we reflect on not enough: the religious and priestly vows we made also brought us together – to live and work with one another. Perhaps we would do well to grow in appreciation and gratitude for our being companions to each other – “friends in the Lord.”

At Wolfington, the rectory, and at Andrew White House we really do try to help and support each other. There’s a grace and beauty there that point to God’s working presence. We simply cannot act as if our lives together are due only to ourselves. It’s in our shared lives that we find God’s goodness and grace happening between us and among us: the shape-of-God shaping us. Ignatius called it “God’s glory.” We are where and how God gives himself away.

In a Christmas reflection on the Incarnation, Karl Rahner wrote that: “The human is the way God is present.” And the poet Gerard Manley Hopkins spoke of “God’s infinity dwindling – dwindling into an infant.” We will not – we cannot find an infinite, heavenly God, because the human has become God’s chosen way of letting himself be known. God’s awesome self-revelation comes to us in a simple offer to help out with a liturgy or collaborate on a lecture!

Perhaps sixty years of Jesuit life mixed with eighty-one years of plain old life have simplified the way I see things. But for me, Jesuit life – living and working with brother Jesuits – is how and where God shows himself specially present. I feel blessed.

Let us all be deeply grateful to God for calling us to be companions in the Society of Jesus. ✚

THE GLOBAL CLIMATE CRISISAn excerpt from Pope Francis’ *Laudate Deum

“...Despite all attempts to deny, conceal, gloss over or relativize the issue, the signs of climate change are here and increasingly evident. No one can ignore the fact that in recent years we have witnessed extreme weather phenomena, frequent periods of unusual heat, drought and other cries of protest on the part of the earth that are only a few palpable expressions of a silent disease that affects everyone. Admittedly, not every concrete catastrophe ought to be attributed to global climate change.

Nonetheless, it is verifiable that specific climate changes provoked by humanity are notably heightening the probability of extreme phenomena that are increasingly frequent and intense. For this reason, we know that every time the global temperature increases by 0.5° C, the intensity and frequency of great rains and floods increase in some areas and severe droughts in others, extreme heat waves in some places and heavy snowfall in others. If up to now we could have heat waves several times a year, what will happen if the global temperature increases by 1.5° C, which we are approaching? Those heat waves will be much more frequent and with greater intensity. If it should rise above 2 degrees, the icecaps of Greenland and a large part of Antarctica will melt completely, with immensely grave consequences for everyone.

In recent years, some have chosen to deride these facts. They bring up allegedly solid scientific data, like the fact that the planet has always had, and will have, periods of cooling and warming. They forget to mention another relevant datum: that what we are presently experiencing is an unusual acceleration of warming, at such a speed that it will take only one generation – not centuries or millennia – in order to verify it. The rise in the sea level and the melting of glaciers can be easily perceived by an individual in his or her lifetime, and probably in a few years many populations will have to move their homes because of these facts. ...”

Canticle of the Turning

1. My soul cries out with a joyful shout that the God of my heart is great, and my spirit sings of the wondrous things that you bring to the ones who wait. You fixed your sight on your servant's plight, and my weakness you did not spurn, so from east to west shall my name be blest. Could the world be about to turn? TO REFRAIN

REFRAIN My heart shall sing of the day you bring. Let the fires of your jus - tice burn. Wipe a - way all tears, for the dawn draws near, and the world is a - bout to turn!

2. Though I am small, my God, my all, you work great things in me, and your mercy will last from the depths of the past to the end of the age to be. Your very name puts the proud to shame, and to those who would for you yearn, you will show your might, put the strong to flight, for the world is about to turn. TO REFRAIN

3. From the halls of power to the fortress tower, not a stone will be left on stone. Let the king beware for your justice tears ev'ry tyrant from his throne. The hungry poor shall weep no more, for the food they can never earn; There are tables spread, ev'ry mouth be fed, for the world is about to turn. TO REFRAIN

4. Though the nations rage from age to age, we remember who holds us fast: God's mercy must deliver us from the conqueror's crushing grasp. This saving word that our forebears heard is the promise which holds us bound, 'til the spear and rod can be crushed by God, who is turning the world around. TO REFRAIN

A PARISHIONER TESTIMONIAL: WHY I SUPPORT HOLY TRINITY PARISH

by Anthony Tambasco

I have worshiped at Holy Trinity since I began my career at Georgetown University over forty years ago. My principal purpose in the beginning was to celebrate God's love, but my life has become intertwined with others, so that we now accompany one another in Christ. Gradually, I have come to appreciate how all of this involvement at Holy Trinity continues to transform my life. The theology book discussion group that I lead each week has kept my faith experience alive and fresh in my mind and heart. My trips to El Salvador and my sponsoring of godchildren have impelled me to keep social justice to the fore. My sharing in the men's group has enabled me to reflect on my own values and to learn from the experiences of others. My being part of the contact team keeping in touch with those with ongoing need who are on HT's e-mail prayer list has encouraged my own prayer life. Most of all, my singing in the choir has enhanced my own participation in the liturgy and made me more and more conscious of how much each of us enhances the worship of the entire community. By singing I return to accompanying others in Christ and I actively celebrate God's love. The mission of HT in many ways in my personal life inspires and warrants my financial commitment to this parish.
